

Before your visit to Crailo, please know the following:

Accessible Parking

- Designated accessible parking is located at 14 Nelson Ave, where staff offices are located (and which directly connects to Crailo's backyard). Please pull into the driveway and see signage straight ahead in front of the white picket fence. Please note that the driveway surface is not fully accessible as it is composed of both gravel and grass. Once parked, a semi-accessible historic, uneven flagstone path will guide you to the back of the historic house where an ADA compliant ramp is located, allowing easy access into the historic house.

Accessible Bathroom

- Crailo's accessible bathroom is located on the first floor of 14 Nelson Ave, a building separate from the historic house (approx. 150 feet away). The exterior building door is kept locked, so visitors must be accompanied by staff. Entry is through the back door, where there is an ADA compliant ramp and the bathroom is located in the immediate back hall. This is the only bathroom on site which is accessible, all others require use of stairs.

Historic House Accessibility Entry:

- The front and side entry doors of Crailo are NOT accessible. There is one step from the public sidewalk to the front path and also to access the flagstone path at the side of the house. The lawn is slightly sloped and may be difficult to traverse using a mobility device. There are also two steps to directly enter the house at both the front and side doors.

Interior:

- Crailo State Historic Site has three floors. The second floor, cellar kitchen, and public bathrooms are NOT accessible to individuals with mobility challenges, though there are pictures of the exhibits on the two floors.

Crailo's Park:

Crailo maintains a small public park across the street from the historic house and next to the Hudson River. Accessibility is limited due to a street curb, steep slope from street level and into park, uneven flagstone stairs, and grass surface.

Crailo State Historic Site staff will make every reasonable attempt to accommodate our patrons and provide an enjoyable and safe experience while visiting the site.
